

Patries van Dorst

In 1978 Patries van Dorst (1960) was admitted as the youngest student at the reputable Gerrit Rietveld Academy. "... Because she was convinced that art would make her happy..."

This versatile artist exhibited successfully and received multiple commissions. Since 2002, Patries spends more and more time in her art studio, creating sculptures in ceramic and bronze.

An impressive collection of sculptures with soft organic shapes and smooth rounded curves that blend inexplicably together. All the sculptures appear as if they want to be touched. They are inspired by people and nature in her life.

Jacqueline van der Plaat

In 1980 Jacqueline van der Plaat (1959) studied at the Rietveld Art Academy Amsterdam which was an important moment in the development of her creativity and style.

At the Rietveld Art Academy Jacqueline felt free to experiment and use her imagination. She has developed a unique style of working with her canvas already prepared with paint, wallpaper or other collage. Jacqueline likes people to wonder what is behind all the layers of paint and paper. She feels it is symbolic of revealing a little of the outside of oneself and a little of the inside.
